Meetings and great teams

most meetings just start, wander round for sometime and sometimes, something drops out of it that's useful. Often its pointless and people leave frustrated.

Great teams identify the outcome up front and then work towards it. Great teams get to the outcome quickly.

Sometimes the outcome changes part way through the meeting. That's OK, though its worth noticing how often that happens

Transform meetings, team dynamic and wider organisation

There is so much to do. There is so little time. We must go slowly - Taoist saying change happens naturally through raised awareness

Change at leadership level enables change to happen naturally throughout organisation
